Re: United Metals Recycling

To whom it may concern,

At very short notice SFPC contacted United Metals Recycling to remove a sunken wreck at Foynes port which was in danger of breaking up and spilling fuel into the Shannon Estuary.

The works involved the complete demolition of the converted wooden/steel trawler from a public slipway at Foynes port. It was important that the work was completed as quickly as possible due to impending bad weather and strong tides. UMR were contacted on a Monday morning, arrived and set up on site on Tuesday evening and completed the work by Friday. All debris was removed off site, there was no contamination as a result of the demolition works and there was no public safety issue throughout the course of the works.

The professionalism and expediency shown by UMR in carrying out the work is to be commended.

SFPC would have no hesitation contracting UMR in the future to carry out similar works if such a need were to arise.

Yours Sincerely,

John Carlton
